Re: Recovery Tech Inc:

We as an organization and facility are aware of the significant results from the clinical trial and are very interested in utilizing your software. Should it become available in Canada, we recognize the importance of a product such as this in rehabilitation and its significance within the recovery process for patients suffering from stroke. The use of a virtual reality game-based rehabilitation is priceless when rehabilitative exercise, post recovery, is of the essence in restoring as much function as possible in a small window of opportunity.
